WFXT Fox
Boston MA

For WTXF, Fox's latest DTV station in New England, we once again used 3D modeling to design furniture and consoles that would blend well with the new building's curved glass walls and flowing interior spaces.

We built two identical production control rooms, a two-position master control room, media prep, TOC, and the Assignment desk, along with 30 other workstations and consoles, and three custom monitor walls. All twenty edit suites were fitted with our EDITOP/34 consoles. Throughout the project, all worksurfaces and bullnose edges were fabricated from solid surface materials. Many special features included illuminated accent panels, built-in power and data connections, and continuous brush cable grommets.
